Nevada Irrigation District votes to cap Centennial dam spending at $2M a year: "More than 500 people packed a Nevada Irrigation District board meeting Tuesday that had been set to discuss a requested moratorium on spending on the controversial Centennial Dam project. The board ended up not voting on that request, instead approving what the board called a compromise spending limit that left most in the audience at the Grass Valley Veterans Memorial Building confused and unsatisfied. ..." Read more from The Union here: Nevada Irrigation District votes to cap Centennial dam spending at \$2M a year
